

Finally, it has started to feel a bit warmer and we have had some welcome sunshine this week. The children are continuing to work hard and the focus for this week's achievers was linked to this half term's school value of love. The question posed to the children was 'What do you love about your learning?' I know that some children will tell you that they do not like anything! However, we all know that they will have enjoyed some part of their learning. Well done to the football team who produced two fantastic performances, which included a goal of the season contender. The big question is who gets the credit?! Mr. Moroney thinks it should be him! Take care and have a lovely bank holiday weekend. Mr. Wilkinson

Beat the Street

On Wednesday, we were presented with our Beat the Street prizes. This includes a gift voucher for Decathlon - the children will be involved in deciding what to spend the money on.

Reminder

School Uniform - it is important that children are wearing sensible black school shoes. If there is a problem, please telephone the school office (912-5005).

Library

There is still a real buzz when the children go and visit the new library. Some of the children would like to spend all day and night in there!

Here are some quotes from the Reading Ambassadors:

The library is perfect. It has all the comfort of home and all the books you could ever need. I LOVE IT!

I am very fond of the library. I especially like how the teddies match the books. The new stools and bean bags make the library more cosy.

I am extremely grateful for the beautifully decorated library and everything that it offers.

The best library I have ever seen! Like literally! So colourful, creative and... lovely bean bags and booths.
